THIS WEEK IN HISTORY...

On Dec. 6, 1921, Agnes Macphail was the first woman to be elected to the house of commons.

Agnes Macphail blazed a path for women with her election to the federal House of Commons. It was the first federal election in which women had the right to run as candidates, and Macphail was the first woman elected. She was also the only woman elected, and would remain the sole woman in the House of Commons until 1935, she served until 1940. She advocated prison reform and women's rights as well as a protective tariff. She was the first female Canadian delegate to the League of Nations. Elected to the Ontario legislature (1943-45, 1948-51), she sponsored the province's first equal-pay legislation.

GOOD NEWS STORIES

FIRST OFFICIAL UNICORN HUSBANDRY LICENSE GIVEN TO INTREPID YOUNG GIRL IN CALIFORNIA

California just granted the first ever state license for Unicorn Husbandry, provided the young applicant can find one, and ensure it has appropriate exposure to sunlight, moonbeams, and rainbows. Department of Animal Care and Control added that its horn needed polishing every month with a soft cloth.

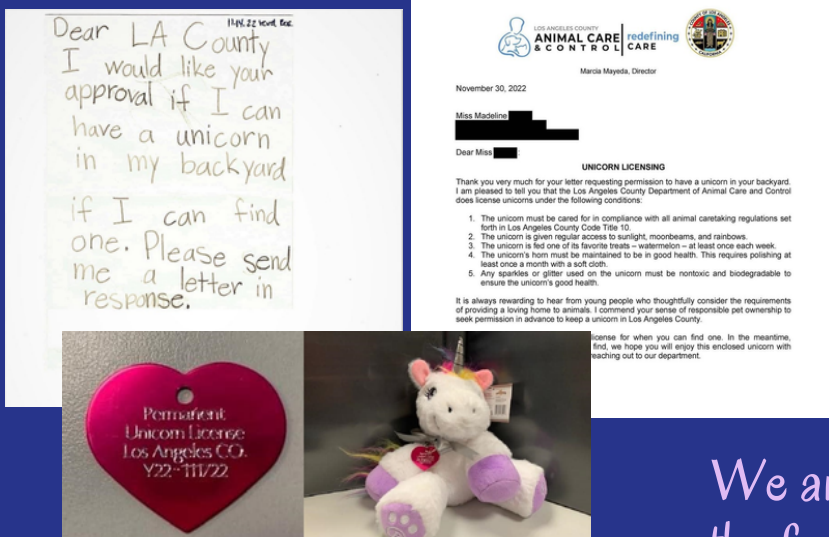

"Dear LA County, I would like your approval if I can have a unicorn in my backyard if I can find one," wrote a girl named Madeline. In response, DACC sent an emblazoned "Permanent Unicorn License," in fuschia-colored metal, along with a white unicorn plushie with pink hooves and a silver horn.

DACC Director Marcia Mayeda praised Madeline's "sense of responsible pet ownership to seek permission in advance" and for thoughtfully considering "the requirements of providing a loving home to animals."

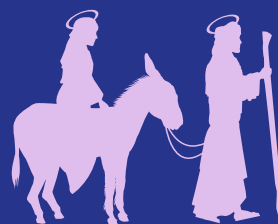

The agency posted images of the correspondence, the license, the medallion and the stuffed toy on its social media accounts.

The agency added that if the unicorn needed a topical treatment of sparkles and glitter, that they be exclusively non-toxic and biodegradable.

Loving God,
We are in the 3rd week of Advent and the focus this week is joy. I don't really like this time of year: my family is struggling financially, there's grief and I'm just not in the spirit. Help me find joy despite all the negativity and hardships.
Amen.
