Hey Crusaders—Sept. 27th is PHOTO DAY! That's NEXT WEDNESDAY! We will remind you the day before to come looking your best!

Are you looking to get involved with a club but not sure which one? Why not consider Best Buddies! Best Buddies work with our Special Ed. dept. and the Life Skills students, being buddies and spending time together doing different things and possibly trips. Come out this Thursday after school, meeting at Ms. R.'s office. See Ms. R. for more details.

Hey lovely people! Chaplaincy Club will be starting this week, on Wednesday after school and we will meet outside Ms. R.'s office. We will be renaming this club and looking at the different activities we would like to do this year. See Ms. R. for more details or to join the Google classroom!

Attention anyone interested in cross country! Practices will run Wednesday and Thursday this week outside the front of the school along the path on the side. Please bring any forms to Ms Risi or Mr Inglis in workroom 214A! Everyone is welcome!

Do you like to read? Do you enjoy discussing stories with your friends? Do you like sweet treats? If you do, then come join us at our annual "Assumption Reads" Book Club! Come and meet after school on WEDNESDAY in room 222 to get acquainted and organized and start choosing our readings for this year! Come and join a community of students and staff who loves books! See you there!

Any student interested in joining the Student Athletic Council please come to our first meeting after school ON WEDNESDAY THIS WEEK in room 118. Everyone is welcome!

Are you in grade 9 and looking to gain leadership skills and confidence? Are you passionate about issues that affect students? Consider joining the HCDSB Student Senate, a board wide organization made up of student representatives, which advocates for student voice at the board level. Applications are open now for all grade 9 students until September 27th. If you have any questions please contact MS. Davison or Ms. R.

DAD JOKE OF THE WEEK

I grilled a chicken for two hours.

It still wouldn't tell me why it crossed the road.

Quote for the week

*"Be there for others,
but never
leave yourself
behind."*

HAVE CHAIR, WILL TRAVEL!

For 33-year-old American travel blogger Cory Lee, it used to be easier to explore Antarctica than some of the nearby parks and beaches in his home state of Georgia. Using a wheelchair once meant that rugged hiking trails were off-limits, but that's no longer the case.

All-terrain power wheelchairs are now available at state parks in Georgia, as well as in Colorado and Michigan. The wheels and treads on each Action Trackchair allow people with mobility issues to traverse rocky trails, sandy beaches and uneven terrain. They're even powerful enough to make steep uphill climbs.

As Lee told CNN, "It'll open up a whole new world for me and for other wheelchair users."

Prayer

Loving God,
give me a big heart today,
a generosity of spirit in all my encounters,
especially the interruptions, the moments of grace. Give me the grace to be really present in the presence of others, to see the "sacred grandeur" in the other,
to listen well, to take the first step towards them, to let go of my assumptions; to give less offence, to take offence less easily.
Give me the grace to see the needs of the world around me, to see through normality, to see injustice hidden in plain sight. Give me the grace to see in the most ordinary moments of encounter the graced reality of our world.
